Mapping resources:

TerraServer: <http://terraserver-usa.com/address.aspx>

Handy link for getting aerial photos of your comparable sales. Requires a mailing address only.

Wisconsin Land Information Clearinghouse: <http://www.sco.wisc.edu/wisclinc>

This is a portal to land information websites, geospatial data, viewable map services and more. WISCLINC, maintained by the State Cartographer's Office, is a registered node in the national network of National Spatial Data Infrastructure (NSDI) geospatial clearinghouses.

This site contains the Wisconsin Land Information Program (WLIP) Annual Survey. This is a handy list to contact the land information officers for each county in Wisconsin. Here's the link for the 2004 survey:

Wisconsin DNR WebView: <http://maps.dnr.state.wi.us/webview>

This interactive map viewer allows you to use a web browser to access and display a subset of the Wisconsin DNR's geographic information system (GIS) data. You can use WebView to create and print customized maps of your area.

Wisconsin DNR Registry of Closed Remediation Sites: <http://maps.dnr.state.wi.us/brrts>

This online system records "closed" remediation sites in a computerized registry. You can find properties of interest using an interactive map. You can also search for sites by county, city, township, or village. The registry allows you to view, print and download digital versions of documentation relevant to a site.

Wisconsin DNR Floodplain Analysis Database: <http://maps.dnr.state.wi.us/fad>

Or <http://maps.dnr.state.wi.us/femamap/run.htm>

These interactive map sites allow you to access Wisconsin's Floodplain Analysis Database. By clicking a few buttons, you can identify areas where floodplains have been mapped or flood insurance studies have been completed.

National Map Online Interactive Map Service: <http://nationalmap.usgs.gov>

Access high quality, geospatial data from multiple partners.
